WANT A CHANGE IN FRANCHISE LAW

SAN JOSE, Dec. 12.—The first subject before the Convention of the League of California Municipalities this forenoon was "Progress of San Jose." J. W. Keegan of Santa Rosa led the discussion with an interesting statement of the expenses in his city. After trying several systems which failed, the plan of furnishing the water back to water, and the bottom of the earth, depth eight feet. Water is poured in and the mass is conveyed to a settling bed and from thence to a filter bed of sand and gravel. No chemicals are used. Nature's purifier does all the work.

Dr. Washington Dodge of San Francisco read an able paper on "The Assessment of Property for Taxation Purposes." It was devoted mainly to the assessment of franchises. He said in the last few years the San Francisco franchise in San Francisco had increased from about $4,000,000 to over $15,000,000. The corporations here made strong claims that the courts had sustained the assessments.

The convention, agreeable to committee recommendations, passed resolutions recommending a change in the franchise law permitting cities' right to refuse to accept bids if deemed advisable so as to do, providing for uniform system of collecting assessments and enforcing them and recommending that an accountants' convention to arrange for the work be called at an early date.

The following officers were then elected:

President, Mayor Clark of Santa Cruz; first vice president, Mayor Worksted of San Jose; second vice president, Mayor Gray of San Diego; secretary, H. A. Mason (conspicuously) Stockton was elected as the next place of meeting. Alameda was elected.

At 11 o'clock the members went for a ride to Alameda Park. This afternoon they will be held at Santa Clara.

DENIES PETITION TO

Judge Hall this morning held that in common with the widow and children of the late Morris Marks should erect a monument over the latter's grave at their own expense, and not try to obtain money for the purpose out of the special estate he bequeathed to distant relatives.

The matter came up on a petition to sell a piece of property on Franklin street, valued at $500, to raise money for the monument. The estate was not a part of the special estate. There was no money on hand to erect a monument, unless the Franklin street property was sold.

The bench refused to allow the estate to be sold for the purpose. The estate was not a part of the special estate. There was no money on hand to erect a monument, unless the Franklin street property was sold.

Judge Hall therefore denied the petition to sell the property. Attorney Fry stated that he would like to argue the matter, but Judge Hall cut him short, saying that in common decency the widow and children should erect the monument at their own expense without attempting to cut into the legacies of the Eastern relatives.

GOOD PROSPECTS
IN NEVADA.

RICH DEVELOPMENTS IN BUTTE-TONOPAH COMPANY'S MINES, TONOPAH DISTRICT.

The glories of the Comstock Lode are being revived in the Tonopah Mining District, Nye County, Nevada. Short as has been the time since its discovery, it has produced millions of dollars, and bids fair to be the richest camp ever discovered on the continent. Many fortunes have already been made in the new district, and the prospect is that Tonopah millionaires will shortly be as common as were Comstock millionaires as when the mines of Washoe were pouring forth their precious stream.

At this early stage of development, Tonopah is in plain sight on the dumps at Tonopah, more than ten times as much is in sight in the mines above the 200 foot level. Yet the values are hardly opened yet. Many of the ore bodies lie beneath the grass roots, and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of gold ore has been shipped away that was washed with a head windlass.

All over the Pacific Coast Tonopah is the point of attraction. Men are going in all the time, while few go away. Although a new and only slightly developed district it has produced for dollars for every one expended. It is an ideal mining camp for the prospector and promoter, such as has not been found since the mining days of placer mining in California.

Dorphy is the prevailing geological structure of Tonopah district. The ore is siliceous, and is extraordinarily rich, carrying high percentages of both gold and silver. The extent and richness of the ore bodies near the surface excite the wonder of the oldest and most experienced miners.

Among the corporations that have got in early on the ground floor and purchased claims most favorably located in the Tonopah district is the Butte-Tonopah Mining Company, of which Walter C. Burtis, well known in Oakland, is the Secretary. The President of the company is J. M. Merrill, a successful mining man of vast experience and clear judgment. Mr. Merrill was one of the original organizers of the great Granite Mountain and Bi-Metallic mines in Montana. He is confident that the Butte-Tonopah property will develop into a rich mine. The company owns the Golden Gate, Champion, Angolia and Crack-creek, each 60,000 feet, and all lying on the line of the great ledge traversing the principal properties of the district, viz: the Princeton Consolidated, Tonopah Mining Co. of Nevada (comprising the original Mizpah discovery) and the Mizpah extension. The Butte-Tonopah property adjoins the Mizpah extension.

It is a foregone conclusion from the developments made on the Starvation Claim to the Mizpah Extension Company, who struck the bonanza at a depth of 400 feet, that it is the identical reef that runs through the "Golden Gate" and "Champion" properties.

Developments of the Butte-Tonopah property is proceeding with the most encouraging prospects. The ledge is shown in place, highly mineralized and with every appearance of promising to remain as such as depth is attained. The incorporation think they will surely develop a dividend paying bonanza.

J. M. Merrill, for many years associated with the British American Corporation, says: "Bonanza at Mizpah. I believe it to be the best prospect in the camp." James Dougherty, the Manager of the Bonanza Lease No. 52, on the Mizpah Company's property, says: "I believe it to be the Mizpah reef."

Following are the officers of the Butte-Tonopah Company:

J. M. Merrill, president; T. L. Odde, general manager; P. O. Chamberlain, vice-president; John Gerber, treasurer; Walter C. Burtis, secretary; Wesley W. Warren, superintendent. Directors: J. M. Merrill, San Francisco, Cal.; T. L. Odde, Tonopah, Nevada; Hon. Lee Martin, Butte, Montana; P. O. Chamberlain, Tonopah, Nevada; Roger Dougherty, Tonopah, Nevada; John Gerber, Lincoln, Cal.; D. J. MacDonald, Oakland, Cal.

WARRENT IS OUT FOR FRANK HARDY

Sheriff Oscar L. Rogers has received the following letter from the Sheriff of San Luis Obispo County:

"Dear Sir:—I enclose you the warrant for Frank W. Hardy, in case anything should happen that he is cleared of the charge against him there, hold him on this warrant until he is brought here and held for trial at once. What is the probability of a conviction in the case you have there? Yours truly,

"O. C. IVINS, Sheriff."

Hardy is on trial here for shooting Wong Lee at the home of Morton Stanley in Emeryville. Today he took the stand in his own behalf and told the story of the shooting. He claims that he and the Chinese quarreled over milk cans, that the Chinese threatened to cut him and that he shot in self defense. He is being defended by Attorneys T. McNamara and W. H. Lyons, while District Attorney Allen is conducting the prosecution.

BALLOTS RULED OUT BY THE HUNDRED.

SHERIFF'S CONTEST BRINGS TO LIGHT DEFECTS IN BAL-LOT LAW.

Sheriff Rogers' aim of 45 votes, which stood to his credit last evening when the count was concluded for the day, was reduced to 10 votes today at noon by the result of the Sixth precinct in Alameda.

Rogers lost forty votes by the result of this precinct, while Bishop lost only 6. Rogers' net loss in the precinct was thus 24 votes. Rogers' original vote in the precinct was 112, while that of Bishop was only 52. The vote now stands Rogers 88, Bishop 47. A total of 37 ballots were thrown out in the precinct.

In Fruitvale No. 7, Rogers lost 17 votes while Bishop lost 21. Altogether 31 ballots were thrown out. Thirteen of these were lost by the result of districting marks number 232. Only 102 were discarded because they had not been voted for Sheriff at all.

At noon the total votes tallied for the contest stood Rogers 228, Bishop 391. Rogers' losses this morning were due to the fact that in the Alameda precinct he originally had 112 votes, while Bishop had only 52. In the other precincts counted, where Bishop's plurality was large, his losses were correspondingly small.

The result of the Second precinct of the Second Ward, in which the original vote stood 61 for Bishop and 35 for Rogers, gave the latter a net gain of four votes. Bishop lost 9 by the result, while Rogers lost only 5. Rogers has now gained a total of 11 votes by the result of eight precincts. At this point Rogers had not gained enough votes in the 157 precincts to overcome Bishop's lead of 312 votes.

NEW SACRED

THE PRETTY EDIFIC WILL BE DEDICATED NEXT SUN-DAY.

On next Sunday the congregation of the Sacred Heart will add to the old frame structure in which they have been worshipping since the original trim structure was destroyed by fire about four years ago.

At 10:30 o'clock on that day the dedication exercises of the new church, at the corner of Hart and Grove streets, will take place and the congregation will take possession of one of the prettiest and most complete houses of worship in the city.

The service in the new edifice will be a solemn high mass, which will be celebrated by Rev. Martin P. Scanlan of Saint Richmond as celebrant; Rev. James Villalobos of Millbrae as deacon; Rev. William Leachy of St. Agnes, San Francisco, as master of ceremonies; Rev. Father Heslin of St. Columba's as assistant priest.

The sub-deacon has not yet been designated.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock a service will be sung and benediction given by Father Heslin. An address will be delivered by Father Heslin.

The sermon in the morning will be delivered by Father Leachy of St. Agnes.

All of these gentlemen, save Rev. Villalobos, were formerly curates of the church under the pastorate of Father Heslin, who is still in charge of the parish. The present curate is Father Heslin.

Special music will be rendered by volunteer choir, comprising Santiago Arribas, organist; singing and brass choirs, and Frank Valenzuela, Thomas Valenzuela, Ida Valenzuela and Mrs. W. E. Dargis as vocalists.

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 12.—Superior Judge Terrace this morning refused to make an order directing that the deposition of Katherine Timley be taken at her home on Point Loma. Her attorneys declined to accede to the proposition of the attorney for the Times-Mirror Company that she be allowed to give a deposition of her own selection go over and examine Mrs. Timley for the purpose of reporting upon her alleged illness, but said that he

CHIEF SAYS THE CHEESEMANTLE
IS FAKE.

The Bulletin tonight publishes a story that an Oakland policeman says that Frank Cheeseman, the escaped Oakland lunatic, is the probable Salinas murderer.

Chief Hodgkins was interviewed about the matter and said:

"The Bulletin story is simply hot air. No member of the Police Department ever made such a statement. We do not believe in the story. It is all an idle dream of a reporter and makes a sensible man smile. There is not a single fact on which to base the story."

It was on February 7th that Cheeseman made his first escape from the insane asylum, but he was captured the same night in the foothills back of the institution. On the 1st of June he made his second escape. On this occasion he fled to Montana and was not retaken until September.

It was during the months that intervened between his escape and recapture that H. K. Belden, a prominent business man and wealthy resident of the Lakeside district, in Oakland, was called to his door at midnight and murderously assaulted by a man armed with an ax. It was believed at that time that Belden's assailant was Cheeseman and the purpose of the assault was robbery, but that the ax-wielder became frightened when Belden escaped him and, fearing capture, made his escape without attempting to loot the premises.

It was on the 21st of March of the present year that Cheeseman, for a third time, eluded his keepers at the Napa Asylum and made his escape.

DERER.

SALINAS, Cal., Dec. 12.—A report has reached here that another man has been arrested at San Juan, about twelve miles distant, who bears a resemblance to the murderous assailant of the Graves household. Sheriff Keef denies that there is any truth in the report.

Little George Allen succumbed to his fearful injuries last night. Coroner Miller will impound a jury and the body, after being viewed, will be taken by the railroads to San Francisco for interment. The funeral will be postponed until the other injured persons are able to testify. Graves is still in a dangerous condition, and the doctors fear blood poisoning. Mrs. Graves is now threatened with brain trouble. Albeit, the hired man, still hovers between life and death.

After the suspect who was arrested Wednesday night at King City had retired from the presence of Graves and his wife yesterday, before whom he had been taken for the purpose of identification, both said that while not fully sure he was the assailant, they would like to have him held until they could see better. Graves remarked that he felt in his actions, manner and appearance, especially when the latter started forward to thank him for not having identified him as the assailant, were identical in every respect with the assailant of last Monday night. He will be held by Sheriff Keef for further investigation.

608 North Sixth Street, KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 12, 1902.

About nine months ago I consulted my physician about my health, which had become so wretched that I was no longer able to be up and about. I had severe headache, bearing down pains, pains across my abdomen. I felt so nervous that I could hardly take a step without trembling, and a slight noise would jar and irritate me. I had been suffering for months with constipation and indigestion and the doctor told me that I had uterine trouble and inflammation of the womb causing leucorrhea. I had noticed from time to time a sense of heat and had been irregular. He prescribed a wash as an internal remedy and I used both faithfully for six weeks without ever getting any relief. Fortunately your book of personal letters to women fell into my hands and I became very interested and decided that I had given the doctor a fair trial and would see if Wine of Cardui could do better. I soon found that I was picking up, my appetite increased and the general benefits were very marked. Gradually the pain became less and my headache which had been a source of much trouble to me became less frequent and after two and a half months treatment I felt that I was once more a well and strong woman. I attribute my cure entirely to Wine of Cardui for I used nothing else and I desire to thank you heartily for the benefits received. Every woman suffering with female trouble should try Wine of Cardui and I fully believe she will experience the same benefits and cure which I have.

Mrs. L. A. Austin

BEARING DOWN PAINS affect a woman in every part of her body. The worry and excitement, the nervous tension and the worried apprehension make the body an easy prey for the throats of disease. If sharp cutting pains catch you in the back and across the abdomen you need to take Wine of Cardui, as they did. The pain is sharp and unbearable because the trouble has run too long and Nature is taking this method to call for necessary relief. The pain is causing nervousness and will soon make you a chronic invalid. But Wine of Cardui is a sure remedy for the pains and drains of weak and nervous women. The Wine regulates the menstrual flow and imparts strength and health to the diseased organs. Wine of Cardui has no equal in regulating the menses and building up the weakened organs. Thousands of women have tried it and are cured. Doctors prescribe it and recommend it to their patients. Very frequently the irritation indirectly causes constipation and irregularity of the bowels and perfect relief can be secured by taking Theodor's Black-Drainage, the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui. Druggists sell Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Drainage.

MEN LOSE THEIR HEADS WHEN THEY GO CHRISTMAS BUYING.

THEY NEVER KNOW WHAT TO GET FOR A PRESENT—BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION AT THE EBELL.

BY BETTY MARTIN.

Now is the time of year when the average man feels much as the proverbial bull in the china shop. He is simply bewildered amid the array of Christmas articles which prove so enchanting to women. At no other time does a man feel so utterly incompetent and flustered as when selecting a Christmas present, and he is pretty apt to be an absolute failure at the job unless some female friend or relative comes to the rescue.

He usually goes to buy—men never "shop"—his Christmas presents with a definite idea as to just how much money he'll spend, but without the least notion of how or what to spend it on. He is a "good thing," pure and simple, and the heart of the clerk expands at his approach.

He usually spends from two to three times the amount of money he originally intended, and goes home wondering what he did with it.

And then the utter incompetency of the average man's gift—oh, the pity of it!

In his mind is one man who ordinarily displays pretty good common sense, but just let him arrive at Christmas, and he loses his head entirely.

He is in no mood to consider a common enough failing, by the way—and has a wife fond of pretty and artistic things.

This wife's gowns are always good, but extremely modest, as befits one which must do for a variety of functions.

There are dozens and dozens of things which he is in the way of toilet accessories or household goods, but even Christmas, with charming regularity does this dim sighted husband invest himself to a dealer in dry goods, and invest in half a dozen daily colored silk stockings, which he duly presents to his better half, who, of course, is both amused and disappointed.

She doesn't like to hurt his feelings, and although she feels a trifle sore over the matter, is too tender-hearted to even hint that she wants anything else.

It has always been a sort of generally accepted fact that married men must be gently led by the nose when any definite object is to be accomplished, and this holds true in regard to Christmas presents.

The wise woman hints broadly and judiciously as to her needs, and chooses auspicious moments for so doing, taking care to smooth the fur the right way.

By this means she is reasonably sure of securing the prize she has set her heart upon.

On the other hand, there are two things a woman never has the least hesitancy about giving to a man at Christmas time.

One is a picture of herself—the other, a sofa cushion. The giving of the first is governed by the amount of sentiment involved together with a little personal vanity, but the latter goes on record as a gift breaker.

Stumble fingers have been busy for weeks and weeks preparing for the time which is now upon us, and were the number of sofa cushions on hand to be presented male acquaintances, husbands and brothers—counted before distribution the total would be apt to make one stand aghast.

In a couple of weeks, more or less, parson, living rooms and bedrooms will alike be flooded with a deluge of bedclothes and painted affairs, most of them too elaborate to be of any earthly use whatever.

Cushions of leather painted in impossible shades of blue, green and red, and all sorts of blue conception, in common with a goodly proportion of heavily affairs meant for solid comfort and use.

EBELL SOCIETY celebrated its twenty-sixth birthday anniversary last Tuesday in a very happy manner. It was a family affair, pure and simple, nobody but club members being present.

The only remarks were in regard to the headquarters, which are much too small and inadequate to hold the number of ladies desirous of attending the break.

It is said that on the morning the seats were for sale, the club house resembled the grand opera house during a Patti season. At 8 o'clock there was a ticket line formed, and the telephone was hot while the names were registered, quickly as possible, and within an hour from opening, not a seat was to be had for love or money. So much for the popularity of Ebells.

However, to those fortunate enough to be among the designated tennessees, the responses were all made in a very happy manner. Several of the ladies fell into rhyme, notably when talking about "The Men" and "Bachelor Maids," of which latter Ebells boasts quite a number.

The decorations this year were strongly reminiscent of Christmas, in decided contrast to the twenty-first celebration, when the tropical pantheons were introduced for the first time in this section.

Miss Sessions, an absentee in the south, sent up huge sprays which the ladies carried home with them, and from that time on it has steadily grown in favor, although no one seems to bring it from the southern country.

Mrs. E. W. Smith used these flowers at a luncheon given recently at her home, and the effect of the immense scarlet blossoms is said to have been extremely brilliant. BETTY MARTIN.

CHILDREN GET A BOY SAVED BY A CAR DISTRIBUTION FENDER.

RECEIVE PROPERTY FROM THEIR MOTHER'S ESTATE DESPITE EXECUTOR'S OPPOSITION.

Despite the opposition of Walter M. Heywood, as executor, the children of the late Georgiana Phillips today secured a partial distribution of the property left by their mother. The executor wished to keep the estate intact until all three of the children became of age. Two of the children are now of age, and they contended that they should receive, at least, a part of their mother's estate, inasmuch as she has been dead eleven years.

Jane Hall granted a distribution of real property in San Francisco, valued at $30,000. The children recently tried to have Heywood removed as executor, but failed. They claimed he was making no efforts to close the estate. Mrs. Phillips left a considerable estate in the neighborhood of $100,000.

POLITICS DO NOT PAY GOOD DIVIDENDS

That politics do not pay good dividends is shown by the appraisement of the late John Sherman's estate at only $500,000. The Buckeye statesman, too, was one of the overmastering figures in the American game of politics for nearly a third of a century, and his opportunities must have been boundless to turn his position to one of thrift, to accumulate a large estate, and to leave a name of fame. He was a man of great energy and force, and he was a man of great ambition. He was a man of great energy and force, and he was a man of great ambition. He was a man of great energy and force, and he was a man of great ambition.

PREPARING TO DRAW A NEW GRAND JURY.

Names will be drawn in Judge Melvin's Court next Monday for a new Grand Jury. Sixty names are to be drawn, and from these, at a date to be fixed by the Court, nineteen will be selected to serve as a Grand Jury for the next year. There have already been two grand juries this year, which is the limit provided for by law.

This week's Town Talk is a kingpin number of forty pages, a sort of a collection of the big 30-page Christmas number that will be out on the 15th. The Sanitizer tells how the King of England hunted Lily Langtrunk and her daughter; how Mayor Schmitz is injuring his chances of re-election; how N. G. Greenway, the husband of his ball, what is doing at the clubs etc. There's a story by McChadney and plenty sketch entitled "The Mayor's Visit." Verse by Mabel Porter 1111s and R. C. McDonald. And in the center of the paper are among the features. There is some newsy gossip told in the dramatic department, and a number of interesting and other departments are interesting.

Goodfellow Reception One of the Swell Events of Season.

There is quite a good sized tempest

Marion Goodfellow's coming out tea on Tuesday was one of the swellest affairs I've ever been to in my life, and although it rained great guns throughout most of the receiving hours, that apparently made no difference at all to the people invited, who, if they hadn't carriages of their own, cheerfully called up "Main 18," and arrived in their best white gowns as dry as chips, although I don't know why chips are supposed to be always dry. Everyone is wearing a white gown of some description nowadays, and they are becoming to every one. Some of us look wan in blue, purple in pink, and green in gray, but when it comes to white, we all seem to show in very good form. The debutante's gown was simply beautiful. There was such a mixture of lovely soft, white things used, that one couldn't tell where the satin striped crandine and the white silk ended, or the point applique and the lovely pearl embroidery began, and she carried an armful of pale pink buds. The big grand piano was completely covered over with all the flowers sent by admiring friends, and then the flowers and decorations about the rooms were very pretty and more elaborate than we usually see. It was the first time most of us had seen the new billiard room which has been added to the house, and it is one of the most picturesque and stunning big rooms I've ever opened my eyes at. It's like a room taken out of an old castle, with the big beamed ceiling and all the diamond-paned windows opening out, and hundreds of tiny electric lights in soft colors set into the ceiling and about the walls made it all a lovely picture. I'm running out of adjectives already, but never mind. The billiard table was taken out and dozens of small tables for two or four people were placed all over the room, so that we had a very good time feasting our eyes and our little insides. The dining-room was not opened at all, as the table in there was all arranged for the evening's dinner party. An orchestra played in the small library across from the big long drawing-room where Marion, Mrs. Goodfellow and the ladies assisting Mrs. Goodfellow stood in line, and the big round window in the library was festooned with vines and esparganous fern, scarlet berries and poinsettias decking the mantel. The hall and the entire staircase railing at the back of the hall was decorated with high branches of bamboo, giving

TO HOME AFTER SAYING GOODNIGHT.

Speaking of receptions, day or evening affairs, it doesn't matter, reminds me of the extremely queer fashion many of us, who surely ought to know better, have of bidding our hosts goodnight after we have bled ourselves in the dressing-rooms, and cloaked and hooded ourselves under long wraps, one lovely, some frightfully looking things. Besides being very bad form, it detracts very much from a brilliant ball-room or reception hall. It sucks very forcibly at Arbor Villa one day night of last week. Many of the girls who have looked charming in town Talk of last week says: "It has been many a long year since Mrs. Henry Wetherbee has appeared behind the footlights in this city. Therefore, it will be an added incentive to attend the big charity affair in Maple Hall next Saturday, when it is known that Mrs. Wetherbee is to have a prominent role in one of the plays given. I remember seeing Mrs. Wetherbee some twenty years ago in a burlesque company at a local hall. One of the numbers was a wuoddy one, 'Take Back the Town'."

Mr. Richard Derby, who is so soon to leave for San Francisco to spend a winter, where she is thinking of shopping at the Colonial, gave one of the most delightful affairs it has ever given me my good luck to receive a card on Monday, and, although we played five-handed euchre, which is such fun into the ground here as such an bridge is in England and New York, and is no longer novel or very interesting to those of us who aren't absolutely mad over cards, and I begin to think there are very few of us left in this village, still there were so many

MAKES CONFESSION OF A BRUTAL MURDER.

TWO YOUNG MEN KILLED THEIR FRIEND NEAR MILPITAS AND THREW HIS BODY ON THE TRACK.

SAN JOSE, December 13.—By their own confession, Joe Rose and Tony A. Lawrence, two young men, aged 21 and 22 years old respectively, deliberately planned and executed the brutal murder of Manuel J. Cabral last Friday. Rose was arrested at Stockton yesterday and brought back to San Jose last evening with his paramour by Deputy Sheriff Bacho. The confession was wrung from the young man at a late hour last evening by Deputy Sheriff Varcoe and Bacho, assisted by Deputy District Attorney Bridges.

According to their own statements, the crime was planned and executed in cold blood for the sole purpose of robbery, and they claim to have only secured $25.00 as booty. The stories of both boys little to excite the district attorney to lay the actual killing upon the other.

Last Friday morning they met Cabral at the Commercial Hotel on Market street, took several drinks with him and ascertained that he had money. Later they met and planned the crime which they finally executed. Dora Horley, a paramour of Rose, was an accomplice in the crime, having aided them in the plan, but she had nothing to do with its execution. She is asserted, however, to have received a share of the booty.

Cabral was kept well under the influence of liquor during the day. About 5 o'clock a livery team was hired by Rose, and they all started toward Milpitas. Soon after passing Milpitas one of them shot Cabral in the head. Stunned by the shot from the wagon and another shot was fired into his body. While one of the murderers was tying the horse, the other dragged the body of Cabral through the fence.

Together, one taking the head and the other the feet, they then hauled the prostrate and nearly lifeless body to the track and laid it across the rails. The train was nearly upon them then. Three shots were fired by Rose and Lawrence. The body was then dragged to the track by the train, and the two men fled. Rose and Lawrence then drove rapidly back to San Jose, met Dora Horley, and the three returned to Rose's room, 25, in the Commercial Hotel, and divided the money. Rose claims Lawrence held the gun and kept back two twenties. Lawrence took the money and fled. He was arrested last Monday and gave the information which led to Rose's arrest.

The bodies of the boys, which held an inquest, were buried in a shallow grave in a field near the track. A person or persons unknown requested, I am, most respectfully yours, E. E. MUMFERT.

BRITT WILL MEET TOBY IRWIN OR CLIFFORD.

Star Boxer Agrees to Take on the Winner of the Acme Club Fight—Golfers Carry Their Own Sticks—Turf Gossip.

The two clever fighters matched by Manager Billy Lavigne to do battle before the Acme Club on Thursday next are hard at it in their respective training quarters. Manager Lavigne has not pulled off many fights this season, as there have been but few open dates, but when he does get a chance to put on a pair he gets the best in the business.

Toby Irwin, the pride of Telegraph Hill, is doing all of his hard work at Croft's gardens in Alameda. He daily receives visitors who take a great interest in the local fighter. It is needless to say that Toby will make the coming battle the first of his life. Jack Clifford, the pride of Montana, has selected Blaken's Six Mile House for the scene of his training activities. "Pete" Blaken has harbored several losers of late, but he says that in Clifford he has a first-class man. Tommy Cox is Clifford's sparring partner, and it was because of a bet that he received from Jack that he canceled his engagement with Louis Long a few days ago.

Both of the fighters are anxious to win this battle, as Jimmy Britt has promised to take on the winner provided he make a good showing. With this as an inducement the men will make it one of the hardest fought contests ever witnessed in this city.

The preliminaries are a great drawing card and alone would be well worth the price of admission. Robbie Johnson, the clever little bantam, who has been winning everything he has been in lately, has been matched to go with Louis Cassidine, who gave Tommy Sullivan the fight of his life. In the second preliminary the "Dixie Kid," the colored fighter who is said to be the coming champion, will meet Mike McClure, an unknown with a terrific punch and great staying qualities.

RUNS THROUGH THE MUD AT INGLESDIE

KENILWORTH, WITH 128 POUNDS, LEAVES THE FIELD BEHIND.

With 128 pounds on his back Kenilworth ran through the mud at Ingle's yesterday, beating the field without difficulty.

The first race was conceded to Malaspina, but Burns could only land her in third position, and Blackthorn, who acted like a good mud horse, got first money. Sir Tom Tiddlers was given second place.

The jumping race went to Mike Rice, who left his field far in the rear. The attendance was a little better than the previous day, and Jockeys Ransh and Burns divided the plaudits of the spectators, both landing two winners.

The following is a summary of results:

First race, six furlongs—Blackthorn 7 to 2; Sir Tom Tiddlers 12, second; Malaspina 15 to 10, third. The other starters were: Petado, St. Sever, Pepper Sauce, Rubino, Phyllis Sixes, Montoya, Reel Street, Dwight Way. Time—1:18.

Second race, five furlongs—Little Margaret 6 to 5; Sir Preston 50, second; Ora Viva 5, third. The other starters were: Step Around Pad Jack, Mr. Dingle, Ransh, Onyx, Octon, Charlotte. Time—1:04.

Third race, Steeplechase—Mike Rice 2 to 1; Duke of York 7 to 10, second; Ransh 15, third. The other starters were: Dagmar, Flashlight. Time—2:29 1-2.

Fourth race, six and one-half furlongs—Kenilworth 6 to 5; Sir Tom 7 to 2, second; Watercure 100, third. The other starters were: Rymondale, Golden Light, Virgo d'Or. Time—1:23.

Fifth race, Futility course—Matt Hogan 7 to 5; Jim dore 8 to 5, second; Golden Cottage 6, third. The other starters were: Ransh, Ransh, Ransh, Ransh, Ransh. Time—1:14.

Sixth race, one mile—Barnum 11 to 2; Jessie McHenry 5 to 5, second; Warte Night 5 to 2, third. The other starters were: Busdie, Platynus. Time—1:43 1-4.

GOLF CADDIES DEMAND HIGHER WAGES

THE YOUTHFUL STICK-PACKERS GO ON A GENERAL STRIKE.

Unless the golf players carry their own clubs, there will be no game played this afternoon on the San Francisco links for the final half of the home-and-home contest between the two men teams from the Oakland and San Francisco clubs. The youthful caddies have gone on a strike for higher wages and demand that they be paid twenty-five cents an hour instead of the fifteen cents that has been their regular wage schedule.

The boys went out last Thursday and since then every golf player has acted as his own caddy. The San Francisco Club officials tried to settle the matter on a compromise of twenty cents an hour, but this offer was refused by the boys who claim that the caddies on the Oakland, San Rafael, Burlingame and Menlo Park links get twenty-five cents an hour.

There is some talk of importing Japanese servants to act as caddies this afternoon, and should this occur the striking caddies will give the Oriental visitors a warm reception. Interesting things aside from the game are looked for this afternoon.

Captain D. J. Rumbough announced to the caddies yesterday afternoon that in the event of any disturbance offered on the links during the afternoon's competition he would summon the military guard to remove the disorderly element from the reservation.

Collector of the Port Fred S. Stratton, and a member of the Oakland Golf Club, while at practice on the Presidio links yesterday, was tendered an ovation by the sprinkling caddies for words of encouragement he gave them.

Captains S. L. Abbot and R. M. Fitzgerald have announced the make-up of their teams for today's home and home contest, as following, the first named representing San Francisco and the last named Oakland:

H. C. Golecher vs. W. P. Johnson, J. Byrne vs. E. R. Folger, S. L. Abbot vs. J. A. Folger, H. M. Hout vs. F. S. Stratton, Lieutenant Oyster vs. R. M. Fitzgerald, G. E. Starr vs. F. Kales, G. B. Cooksey vs. J. T. Ames, P. G. Gow vs. W. M. Carpenter, C. Page vs. O. Higgins, T. G. McCook vs. J. O. Cadman, W. Gregory vs. D. F. Holden, Captain Rumbough vs. G. E. de Golia.

RAJA YOGA SCHOOL INQUIRY.

CHARGES AGAINST THE INSTITUTION EXAGGERATED AND ARE MALICIOUS.

The investigation into the Raja Yoga school at Point Loma, San Diego county, conducted by Mrs. Katherine Tingley, by the State and national authorities, has not tended to substantiate the charges made against that institution.

Aside from the religious ideas taught by Mrs. Tingley, the more serious of the charges are without foundation. The investigating officials pronounced the grosser accusations to be manifestly false.

The State officials named by Governor Gage to make the investigation requested by Mrs. Tingley, visited the institution in company with President Black of the State Normal School. The officials were President Hill and Secretary Matthews of the State Board of Health, and Daniel Keane of the State Board of Examiners. They spent one entire forenoon at Point Loma, going through the school grounds and watching the children at their work and in their play. They talked with the children, and with their teachers, as well as with those at the head of the institution.

Whatever may have been their conclusions, they reserved them for the report, which they will make to the Governor and the State Board of Examiners. The investigation indicated that they did not believe any of the charges of cruelty, immorality or lack of financial support.

Frank P. Sargent, United States Commissioner General of Immigration, made a brief investigation of the Raja Yoga school, staying there twenty-four consecutive hours. He gave out the following interview after he had completed his inquiry:

"The place was thrown wide open, and I saw everything about the institution from cellar to garret and from one side of the farm to the other. I went into every building and almost into every room. I spent more than two hours with the children alone, so that they could have told me what they pleased. An attendant showed us around the institution, but retired out of hearing when myself and my secretary began talking to any of the children or other attendants. We visited the school and we visited the colony. The latter is the place most completely about, but we found it as well conditioned as the rest. I have seen many institutions of the kind, carried on by all sorts of sects and all sorts of religious, but I have never seen a place as cleanly and as well appointed as the institution at Point Loma.

"Now I did not come out here to investigate the religion or the beliefs of these people. I suppose they may be peculiar, but that is not my province. I want answers to two questions: 'Will these children become charges on the public because of the inability of Mrs. Tingley and her society to take care of them until they are old enough to take care of themselves?' and 'Are these immigrants being brought here for immoral purposes?' What my conclusions are on those subjects I will tell to the Secretary of the Treasury only and it will be given next Saturday at Washington.

"Outside of those two subjects I might say that I do not think the children at Point Loma are treated cruelly, nor do they look as though they were starved, and I must say that I never saw children so far advanced in their education. I saw little tots of four and five who seemed to know more about how to take care of themselves, their clothes and their rooms, than many a child of three or four years. It was a revelation to me to see what the little folks could do, and seemed to do willingly and without any apparent direction."

ORGANIZATION OF THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

Fight for Speakership Will be Short—All Are For Harmony—The Gage Appointees.

BY GEORGE F. HATTON.

(Special to the TRIBUNE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—A couple of weeks ago it looked as if the approaching legislative session would be free from contests. There were plenty of close finishes to warrant such moves, but somehow there appeared to be a disposition not to take advantage of them. The instances where the candidates were defeated by narrow margins were few. They appeared to think that it would be useless to fight for their seats in view of the likelihood that they would be voted down by the overwhelming Democratic majority, while in those cases where the Republicans were losers by close votes, the feelers they threw out as to whether or not they should contest, met with poor response from the leaders in their own party.

With sixty Republicans in the Assembly and thirty-five in the Senate, it is easy enough to see why the suggested contests were not encouraged. Top-heavy majorities are bad to work with. There are not enough committees to go around, the pro rata of patronage is diminished and factional feuds are common. When, however, there is only a close working majority of three or five votes the necessity of all standing shoulder to shoulder prevents the party dissensions that otherwise arise. An ideal legislature from a party standpoint would be forty-five in the House and twenty-three in the Senate, that is, a margin big enough to guard against losses by death.

Despite the early indications of a lack of contests it is now a certainty that two such fights will come up and more are talked of. The sure ones are that Hubbard will try to get Coggin's seat in the Senate, while Wanzor will endeavor to dislodge Duffy in the House. Up in Glasson county there is a possibility that Coggin will try to oust Snyder, and although it is now understood that neither Hubbard's nor Coggin's places in the Senate Chamber will be attacked, all indications in that regard have not entirely passed away.

Hubbard, who will try to represent the Second Senatorial District instead of Coggin, is a Democrat and is at present the Assemblyman from Shasta County. He is the individual who was elected by 100 votes or so on the unofficial returns, and proved to be defeated by 18 when the official figures came in. Hubbard has been subjected to a good deal of "joshing" as a result of the outcome of the campaign, for when the returns showed his election, he at once went to Sacramento, picked out his seat for the coming session and made arrangements for his personal accommodations during the winter. While he was engaged in this task, the sad news came to him that he was a loser instead of a winner, and he returned home in a very unhappy frame of mind.

Hubbard has employed ex-Assemblyman Shanahan of Shasta to represent him in the contest, and the papers in the case have already been prepared. His contention is that there was illegal voting in one of the Shastian precincts, and he asks that the entire vote of that place be thrown out.

Coggin, however, has no fears as to the outcome. The official returns show that he received a majority of 174 in Lassen, which more than offsets the minorities Hubbard got in the three other counties in the district as follows: Modoc, 17; Siskiyou, 44; Shasta, 95. Those who knew the conditions attending the voting in the precinct challenged by Hubbard, say that his claims are ridiculous and that Coggin is as sure of his seat as if the contest had never been held.

THE WANZOR CASE.
In the case of Wanzor versus Duffy, the returns show that Wanzor was defeated by five votes. At first Wanzor was not inclined to make a contest, but as Santa Cruz County has so many important issues at stake in the approaching session in connection with the Big Trees reservation and the military camping ground, his advisers down that way have urged him to commence the proceedings. Wanzor and his friends claim that he lost about 200 votes in the throwing out of "no nomination" ballots, and they expect to be able to make a strong showing in his behalf.

Wanzor's fight was lost through overconfidence. He was personally not to blame in that regard, for he wanted to keep things humming along the line all the time. His friends, however, laughed at his fears. The county was 500 or 600 Republican, Wanzor a Native Son, popular and well-known, and his Democratic opponent inactive and not inclined to make a fight. Wanzor's election was, in fact, almost conceded and so far did even given a chance to address the audience when the counting invariably given up to some of the other aspirants for office.

What affected Wanzor most keenly when the result showed his defeat, was an incident that occurred on election day. A rancher drove in during the afternoon, and meeting Wanzor and a friend up town, asked them how everything was going. Wanzor's friend replied that Glasson would be defeated, for he said there was no sure thing anywhere, and that was that Wanzor was elected.

"I am glad to hear you say that," responded the farmer, "as it will save me some trouble and expense. I have got half a dozen hands registered out at the ranch, but I don't want to bring them in to vote unless I have to, as every minute is precious to the fruit just now. As Wanzor is safe, that's all I care about, so I'll let them stay out there."

Wanzor protested about taking any chances, but his friend cried him down, "Don't have him lose money with his fruit, just to swell your majority," he said, so Wanzor, not appearing to be selfish, said, "All right."

Subsequent events showed that those very votes would have given him the certificate of election.

GLASSON'S POSITION.
Glasson of Nevada County, the Republican nominee for the Assembly up there, is said to have been a victim of the "no nomination" ballots. Few thought that Glasson would be defeated, for he stood high in the community and the county apparently had a Republican majority of about 700. The miners' union, however, turned the tables, for John Butler, the representative of that organization, toured the State with Lane and succeeded in diverting the labor vote in his own county against the Republican nominee. Glasson has not absolutely decided to make a contest, though he is being urged to do so by those who want to see the county represented at Sacramento by the majority party.

Tillock of Calaveras, who was inclined for awhile to have another set-to with Hubbard, has apparently abandoned that programme, and the same appears to be true about Le Conte's projected fight against Coggin. As a matter of fact the only contests actually in sight are those of Hubbard versus Coggin in the Senate, and Wanzor versus Duffy in the House.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

There is not likely to be any delay in organizing the Legislature. Although the Speakership contest is at present a political conundrum to many, those who are watching the developments are satisfied that the fight will be over long before the members reach Sacramento and that it will therefore be possible to perfect organization the first day.

One of the various candidates for the Speaker's chair have dropped out until now the fight has narrowed down to between Fisk and Dunlap. Knight and McMartin of San Francisco have not formally withdrawn, but it is well understood that their candidates will not be pursued to finish, and that the members will have to tie up on either the Fisk or Dunlap end. Brown of San Mateo is still in the running, but at no time did he take the position of an aggressive candidate. He contented himself with writing letters to those with whom he had served in previous sessions of the Legislature, and doubtless has figured that he would be the most available man in the event of a deadlock. As, however, it is now plain that that contingency will not arise, he will take his stand soon with one of the two leading aspirants.

The friends of Governor-elect Pardee are all anxious to have the matter settled before Sacramento is reached, and that proposition alone is sure to have considerable effect upon the result. Until both branches of the Legislature are organized, the Governor cannot be inaugurated, and it stands to reason that there is a desire to have this all-important issue disposed of as speedily as possible. The Senate will not create a minority, but is powerless until the House is also in official working order, so all the differences in the upper branch will be directed towards straightening out the Assembly differences as speedily as possible.

ALL FOR HARMONY.
At the present time the indications are extremely favorable for a harmonious session. In the Senate there is a disposition to bury the hatchet on all factional feuds, and this policy will be plainly illustrated in the matter of selecting a president. The program now appears to be to let Senator Flint have that honor again without opposition, and if concessions are thus made on one side there is certain to be reciprocity on the other. Then again, Lieutenant Governor Anderson says that the olive branch will be waving all the time he is distributing the committees. He will make his selections out of the Senate, and the indications are, and altogether the indications are, that all will be poured on all the waters that under ordinary conditions would be very much troubled.

Although at present the storm flags are flying over the Assembly, it is more than likely that when the Speakership fight is decided, the peace will be restored. Fisk and Dunlap are carefully avoiding everything in the nature of personalities, and as the members engaged in their respective fights are doing likewise, the path is being left clear for an amicable understanding all around when the contest is over.

THE GAGE APPOINTEES.

A good deal of gossip is going on just now as to the fate that is in store for the gubernatorial appointees who will have to be confirmed at the coming session; that is to say, those who were appointed by Governor Gage since the last Legislature adjourned. Some are claiming that certain of these individuals are going to official death, although Governor Gage may send their names in during the interim that will exist between the meeting of the Legislature and the inauguration of Governor-elect Pardee. These critics declare that although the names will get before the Senate, they will not be acted on, as the Senators will be sure to consult the wishes of the new Governor before taking that step.

Other "know-all" profess to have information that the Gage appointees will be confirmed as the result of an arrangement between Gage and Pardee as to the confirmations, the right thing will be done. Governor-elect Pardee is not unkind of the help tendered him by Governor Gage during the campaign, nor of the attitude towards him of the Gage forces during the State convention. There is truth in every reason why the most friendly relations should exist between them, and as far as the confirmations are concerned there is no hitting at him or that man merely to satisfy the political grudges of other people. When it comes right down to business, therefore, the confirmations will undoubtedly be disposed of upon their merits.

DOINGS OF THE WORK OF RAILROAD MEN AT SOCIALISTS.

H. G. WALKER PRESENTS SOME FACTS FOR PUBLICATION.

By H. G. WALKER.

EDITOR TRIBUNE: Herewith is handed to you a clipping from the New Orleans Times-Democrat, which may be of interest to many of your readers.

What will be remembered as easily the most interesting socialists had all said the most alarming feature in the convention of the American Federation of Labor of 1902 was the resolution adopted when the convention by a vote of 4,741 to 4,341 rejected this resolution:

"Resolved, That this twenty-second annual convention of the American Federation of Labor advise the working people to organize their economic and political power to secure for labor the full equivalent of its toil, and the overthrow of the wage system and establishing an industrial cooperative democracy."

Although defeated, the resolution is especially significant by reason of the great number of votes recorded in favor of its adoption. Out of a total of 9,082, the pro-socialists lost by the slender majority of 400 votes. In other words, the American Federation of Labor, as it is today constituted, is almost evenly divided on the question whether or not Socialism should be adopted. To be exact, 47.68 per cent of the Federation is in favor of, and 52.32 per cent is opposed to, Socialism.

These statistics are of themselves sufficient to make labor leaders throughout the country pause and reflect whether they are tending. The socialists made in the convention last Thursday were overwhelmingly in favor of endorsing the Socialistic movement. Delegate Barnes, commander of the Southern Railway, in the pro-socialist advocates. "Let us tell Mr. Morgan," said he, "that, to use his own words, there is nothing to fear from Socialism. We want your (his) money and your (his) railroads for the good of this country." Delegate Layton said that "the time had come when the union, or laboring man," said he, "is the ballot. It should be used and used for the attainment of the working man's ideal, which is the overthrow of the wage system and the establishment of an industrial cooperative democracy."

In straight-talking words, Mr. Gompers pointed out that Socialism had more than once been opposed to trades unionism, and that the Socialists were essentially the spirit of negation, and that the Federation should shun Socialism as it would leprosy. "Good night," he exclaimed, "to the Socialists! Why, we have graduated from it long ago." This was Mr. Gompers' position, and by taking it he had demolished the Socialists, a convention that was running high in the remarks of other delegates; and but for the vigorous speech made by Mr. Gompers, the Federation would have been a different body.

On the other hand, Mr. Gompers pointed out that Socialism had more than once been opposed to trades unionism, and that the Socialists were essentially the spirit of negation, and that the Federation should shun Socialism as it would leprosy. "Good night," he exclaimed, "to the Socialists! Why, we have graduated from it long ago." Work will be commenced next week on an addition to the flue room, a one-story building about 20 by 50 feet will be added to this department and a new furnace will be built. The present furnace for heating the iron bars that are cut up into bolt heads is a small one, and it is only about a dozen bars at a time. The furnace to be installed when the addition is built will be an oil burner and capable of heating many more bars.

A compressed air flue swager will be put into use when the work of construction is finished. The present method of swaging flues into a box hand and is slow work. With compressed air to aid them the workmen will be enabled to do the work much more rapidly. The compressed air swager has arrived at the shops from the East. Foreman Reichart of the flue room is very much pleased to know that the improvements will be made to his department, as for some time he has been working in cramped quarters.

BENZINE HEATER

IS PUT INTO USE.

A new method for heating rivets has been put into practice in the boiler department at the West Oakland yards. The heater consists of a tank of benzine fitted with a hose, on one end of which is a spray through which the benzine comes. The spray is lighted and the flame is directed into a box built of fire brick and which contains many rivets that soon become white hot. These rivets are used on the big boilers that are made and others that come to the shop for repairs.

Previous to installing the new method, the rivets were heated, a few at a time, in a little forge burning coal and run by hand.

CREOSOTE PLANT IS RUNNING DAY AND NIGHT.

The creosote plant at the West Oakland yards, under the charge of Foreman Beale, has been running night and day the past few weeks getting out the orders that piled up while the plant was being rebuilt after being partially destroyed by fire.

Since being rebuilt the plant here is one of the best on the Pacific Coast and is, in fact, the only one that is owned by the Southern Pacific Company.

A method is used by Foreman Beale that, it is said, gives several additional years of life to the ties treated. The method of preparing the ties is kept a secret and means annually the saving of many dollars to the Southern Pacific Company. The ties are prepared in huge cylinders that are eighty feet in length and are twelve feet in diameter. Besides ties, piles and other wood that needs to be creosoted is handled at the plant here.

REPAIRS BEING MADE ON STEAMER EL CAPITAN.

Repairs are being made on the steamer El Capitan. The steamer has not been brought to the ship yards, but the repairs are being made while she is on her regular run. Such repairs are designated as running repairs by the ship men.

WORK ON THE BARGES PROGRESSING VERY SLOWLY.

Work on the two car barges that are to cost the Southern Pacific Company $40,000 each, is progressing very slowly at the ship yards. So far hardly more than the keels have been laid, and if the work of construction is not hurried more than at present the barges will not be ready on the scheduled time of three months.

WORK IS BEING DONE ON STEAMER SOLANO.

The steamer Solano, that piles between Port Costa and Benicia, is being repaired and an addition being built on her restaurant. The most of the work is turned out at the ship yards at West Oakland and shipped to the steamer, where it is fitted in place.

ENGINEERS RECEIVE INCREASE FROM THE COMPANY.

The engineers in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company have had their demands acceded to, and their wages will now be increased from 5 to 10 per cent. This increase will amount to a hundred engineers on the Western Division.

As yet the firemen have not had their wage rate raised, but they confidently expect to hear of it within a few days, since the demands of the engineers and switchmen have been granted.

STEAM GAUGE TESTER ARRIVES FROM THE EAST.

A handsome nickel plated steam gauge tester has arrived from the East at the West Oakland yards. The affair is of the Crosby pattern and will be under the charge of Foreman in the tool room. The steam gauge tester is to be used to test the steam gauge on locomotives. As the delicate affairs on the engines often get out of order and cause accidents because upon them the engineer depends regarding the amount of steam in the boiler.

LADY CHURCHILL AND DRESS REFORM

LADY CHURCHILL AND DRESS REFORM.

Mrs. George Cornwallis-West (Lady Randolph Churchill), the most "decorated" woman in England, and an American at that, has delighted the hearts of dress-reform organizations by advocating the changes they're after. Mrs. Cornwallis-West has published a letter in which she states her interest in the short-skirt movement, and urges the women of her adopted country more freely to adopt it.

"Well, aren't you content now?" was the question asked several members at the meeting of one London Dress Reform Society.

"No, not content," said Mrs. Ada L. Thornton of the London National Dress League. "We are far from content. We are only encouraged, but are about to take steps to make ourselves at least a little more contented. The cause of dress reform shall drag no more."

So when the National Dressers held their annual meeting they are going to start off on a new track. They intend to bombard this country with facts that will make it think. Pamphlets will flood London and the provinces, not only advocating bloomers for all active occupations, but denouncing corsets, high heels and other irrational objects of wearing apparel.

"We hope," said the secretary yesterday, "to send this pamphlet out in such a wholesale fashion that it will stir things until they boil over. It's outrageous that the women of the world go on from year to year, sneering at us who alone take a sensible view of life. We intend to make them come to our way of thinking."

"Among other means of agitation we're going to display pictures of ladies in rational dress in various hotels and restaurants, if they'll let us. And any of us Rationalists will go anywhere in or out of London to lecture, if we're invited. I may add, we're likely to look nicer in the future, for we have plans on foot to evolve a prettier form of rational costume. The present bloomer seems to be considered ugly by some people."

A NEW CALLING.

We of our town are proud of our unique and helpful bird girl, says a writer in Good Housekeeping. She is 21 years old and has been to the "University and seats of learning." She is the only daughter in a well-to-do home. She does not go out to work much, but the little counts. The woman who wishes to serve a seven-course luncheon seeks her aid in vain, but when some dread disease has entered a home and the common girl flees as before the plague, and neighbors and friends are afraid to help, then "our bird girl" puts in her appearance. Sometimes she offers her services, but is usually sought. She charges in this western town $2.50 per week. She is a fine housekeeper and takes the entire management of the household, but her capable hands, and the distracted members of the family soon enjoy good cooking, a neat, tidy house and that feeling of rest which comes with relief from care. Smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid fever—all repulsive and contagious diseases gain her good offices. She seems devoid of fear. She knows nothing about nursing—that is, technically—and does not take care of the patient, but she washes, irons, takes the brooms, cares for the children and makes existence bearable in the stricken home.

She thinks "the laborer worthy of his hire," and also does not wish the family to feel under obligation to her, and so the small wage gives her return for her labor, sets the people she helps at ease and transforms an irksome charity into a business proposition. She cannot be "engaged abroad," as she never goes unless it is impossible to secure other help. Last winter during the smallpox scourge she was the household angel in many homes, making the rounds of the infected homes daily. She is now the guiding spirit in the house across the way, where typhoid fever has fought well for the possession of the baby. If anyone wants to go as a missionary to China and can't, let her meditate on the simple yet blessed work of "our bird girl" and go and do likewise.

DISTINGUISHED WOMEN.

In a paper read at the Montevideo Assembly by Mrs. T. J. Latham of Memphis she referred to the large number of Southern women who have distinguished themselves in recent years in various fields of effort. She said in part:

"Whatever the incentive, we bless the good fortune that brought us in touch with such writers as Miss Marjorie (Chas. Edgar) Craddock, Will Allen Drummond, Ruth McElroy Stuart, Mary Johnston, Sara Beaumont Kennedy, Anna Robertson Watson, Mrs. McKinley of Knoxville.

"In art we know that Caroline Brooks, whose Vanderbilt group at the World's Columbian Exposition created such favorable comment, and whose bust of Admiral Dewey was presented to him during his visit to St. Louis, is a Southern woman. In Helena, Ark., she began her career, and, as she expressed it, "found her fortune in her churning." She has become the world's greatest molder in butter, her work having been a special feature at the Omaha Exposition. Mrs. Brooks wrote out all her own conceptions in butter before beginning her marble work. A visit to her cold-storage rooms is one of much interest. Among the many artists I mention Mesdames Herrick-Ross and Shurtliff, of California, who excel in ceramic art, producing equal to Sevres. Mrs. Clara Whitmore of Memphis, who excels in china figure work is her specialty; Misses Yandell and Patten of Kentucky; Mrs. Newman of Maryland, whose painting, "Balding Bruff," had honorable mention at the Paris Salon; Martha Lutz of Kentucky, whose skill was appreciated by Rosa Bonheur, and when that famous artist died, would her nearly all her property; Sarah Ward Connolly of Nashville, designed the beautiful Woman's Building at the Tennessee Centennial; Mrs. Fannie May Longman and Mrs. Annie Stephenson Morgan of Memphis, whose abilities are recognized as the finest in the State; Misses Martha Day Fenner of Jackson, Anthony of Brownsville, Mary Solari, Margaret Ash, Minnie Lanier Rains, Fannie Gohar and Mrs. Carrington Mason, all of Memphis, are gifted artists.

"In music Southern women have taken high rank.

"In drama we need not go further than our own loved Tennessee to find talented women who have achieved enviable success. Among those prominent are: Maude Jeffries, Marcella Van Dresser, Mrs. Tim Murphy (Saunders), Maude Fealy, Florence Kahn, Bessie Miller of Memphis and Kate Cheatham of Nashville.

"There are successful doctors, merchants, inventors, farmers, editors, lawyers, trained nurses, miners, educators, stock raisers, financiers, etc. In fact, when we see the success Mrs. Ellith has attained with her botanical and zoological gardens; the skill with which Mrs. Goodall of Texas manages her ranch, with its magnificent herd of buffaloes; Mrs. Cosgrove, one of the most successful dealers in real estate of Joplin, Mo.; Mrs. H. W. R. Story, known as the woman fruit grower of Southern California, and who has the largest walnut groves in the world, we cease to believe there are limitations to the aspirations and achievements of Southern women."

MISS HELEN GOULD'S DIVERSION.

Miss Helen Gould is the latest devotee of the automobile. The clever little horsewoman, whose daily ride in the park has been the one diversion she has permitted no public work or social engagements to interfere with, has turned her back upon her old love to bestow her enthusiasm upon her recently purchased iron steed.

Miss Gould's machine, which is a handsome one of modest black, is not yet personally conducted, the "best-loved woman in America" preferring to trust to her chauffeur for the present. She may be seen most fine days bowling along the Park boulevard as wholly interested as she always is in any project, be it for the welfare of her fellow humans or her own entertainment.

Miss Gould's auto was given its preliminary trial on her Irvington estate, Lyndhurst. She shows herself no timid driver, but maintains a good, stirring pace along the roads.

POETRY THAT WILL INTEREST THE WOMEN

WHAT HAVE THE YEARS BROUGHT?

What have the years brought? Empty places
Filled with the ghosts of long ago;
Hopes dispelled and vanished faces,
Fancies fierce whose fires burned low;
Many fair projects that end in naught,
The pearls brought, the years have brought.

Shadows of scenes and dreams of youth,
Friends that were false, smiles that were bright,
Ashes of love and sparks of the truth,
Fading away as the day into night;
Many dreams of what we sought,
The years have brought, the years have brought.

—Eliza T. Thorngood.

THE VOICES.

In a cadence, in a measure,
As the sound of water falling,
Comes the laughter and the music
Of the voices ever calling.

Mountain-tops and meadow valleys,
And the rocks' rough-hewn features,
Streams and forests, farms and pastures,
All alive with living creatures.

Butterflies upon the flowers,
Bees that delve into deep clover.

Cattle calling from the mountains,
And the joy of life all over.

With rose, daffodil of old nature,
With its petals faintly flushing,
Farm girls, lost beneath sun-bonnets,
With their freckled faces blushing.

Wet dew in the early morning
And the sunset west at night,
Sounds and sights that fill the senses
With a fathomless delight.

In a cadence, in a measure,
As the sound of water falling,
Comes the music of the voices
That to me are never calling.

—James Oppenheim.

A CASUALTY.

"The sculptured stone; the graven praise;
The tablet in the chancel dim;
The churchyard by familiar ways,
Are not for him.

"A stranger hand turns a stranger sod,
And strangers bear him to his rest,
From the homeland paths he trod,
And loved the best."

—Edgar Wallace.

IF ONLY THOU ART TRUE.

If only a single rose is left,
Why should the summer pine?

A blade of grass in a rocky cleft;
A single star to shine,
—Why should I sorrow if all be lost,
If only thou art mine?

If only a single bluebell gleams
Bright on the barren heath,
Still of that flower the summer dreams,
Not of this August's wreath.

—Why should I sorrow if thou art mine,
Love, beyond change and death?
If only once on a wintry day
The sun shines forth in the blue,
He gladdens the graves till they laugh as
In May.

—Why should I sorrow if all be false,
If only thou art true?

—George Barlow.

AN OLD ROMANCE.

A bar of an old-fashioned wall;
A glance at a faded dress;
What is it that wakes in my heart
These echoes of tenderness?

When that was the waltz of the hour,
That dress in its pride and glow
Of shimmer and sparkle and pearl
A seven of summers ago.

Sweet eyes to gaze in my eyes,
Light fingers to clasp my hand,
And a soft voice fell on my ears

In a tremulous undertone.
The face and the fingers I touch;
The voice in its music is here;
But Romance is a delicate moth
That lives—just the sweet of a year.

—Douglas Sladen.

IN TIME'S TREASURY.

The cup of life is shallow,
That we have dashed the best,
That all the wines at once we swallow,
And less make all the rest.

Maids of as soft a bloom shall marry,
As Hyacinths yet both blessed,
And fuller forms are in the quarry
Than Angelo released.

—Emerson.

PEGASUS AND PEGGY.

Peggy is my muse's name,
Pegasus my pony;
It is my light and my dream,
Both of them as chronic.

One I drive and one drives me—
Verse and the reverse, you see.
Pegasus I drive to praise
Peggy—none is sweeter!

Peggy in bewitching ways
Or slow would that work?
Verse and the reverse, you say?
I am versatile to-day.

Peggy loves a saddlehorse,
The part of her, and, likewise, each

Pegasus a bride;
I love Peggy, who, of course,
Takes to have me idle,
Peggy, Pegasus and pride;
All diversely versified.

—Felix Carmen.

THE THIRD PROPOSITION.

If I were thine, I'd fall not of endeavor
The loftiest
To make thy life, now and forever,
Supremely blest—
I'd watch thy moods, I'd toil and wait,
With yearning.

Incessant increase at thy dear shrine burning.
If I were thine,
If thou wert mine, quite changed would be these features.

Then I suspect
Thou wouldst the humblest prove of loving ecstasies.

And not object
To do the very things I am declaring
I'd undertake for thee, with selfish daring
If thou wert mine.

If we were ours? And now here comes the riddle!
If thou would that work?
I'm sure you'd never stop to second idle.

And I might shrink
The part of her, and, likewise, each

Be willing slave or servitor of either,
If we were ours.
—Madeline Bridges.

HARD TIMES, CLAR DE WAY!

THE SPIRIT OF THE FALL.

Come, on the swaying feet,
And Spirit of the Fall!
With wind-blown skirts, loose hair of
russet-brown,
Crowned with bright berries of the bittersweet.

A LAST APPEAL.

O somewhere, somewhere, God unknown,
Exist and be!
I am dying; I am all alone;
I must have thee!

God! God! my sense, my soul, my all,
Dies in the cry;
Sawst thou the faint star flame and fall,
Ah! it was I.

MAKING HER DEBUT--HOLIDAY SECRETS--A GERMAN PRINCESS

WHEN MAKING HER DEBUT.

How shall a girl be introduced at a reception, at a dance, or at a series of dinners given by the immediate family or by friends? The old-fashioned reception covered a multitude of sins, for it was possible, even with an enormously long visiting list, to give an entertainment and not hurt any one's feelings, since all ages could be included in the invitations, and, like a wedding, many individuals of social standing, who had not taken any prominent part in social life, could be remembered. For the last few years, however, these large afternoon receptions have been going out of fashion.

Four days are often chosen when the mother and her daughter receive their friends. The idea of the four days is that there may not be too many people present at one time. The difficulty is that each one of the guests is likely to wait until the last day, so that the preceding afternoons will be dull, and the fourth so crowded as to be unbearable. With a long visiting list, even after it has been revised by some social master, it is impossible to invite even desirable acquaintances to dinner and to go through the list would be to take up every evening during the season. A dance can include but one set, or, at the most, two—the debutantes and the younger married people—and then there will be no end of heart burnings and jealousies, for few private houses have ballrooms large enough to invite everybody who is desirable, and to maintain a right exclusiveness is possible only to a favored few. But this problem has to be faced by many mothers of debutante daughters of 1902-03, and consequently there will be every form of entertainment given. The old-fashioned reception card to that effect that Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Blank will be at home from 4 to 7 will be the accepted form of invitation, and Mrs. Blank and Miss Blank will receive Mrs. Blank's and Miss Blank's friends (and enemies) while Mr. Blank will put in an enforced appearance late in the afternoon. In this way at least 250 persons can be disposed of.

HOLIDAY SECRETS.

These are the days when nearly every man and woman in the land goes about with a secret, the best-kept secret in the world, since it is shared by so many and divulged by none. It could be unforgivably badly put into words thus: Christmas is a bore, an ordeal to be endured and lived through, an interruption of winter's peace, a tax upon strength, patience, purse, conscience, a thing to be freed from, an epidemic of misdoing, with but one redeeming feature—the fact that children do not know the truth about it. The day of gladness and good will! The day of days to half the world, for its best significance! What have we done with it? How is it lost to us? It is easily told: We have commercialized it! We have resolved it into a nicely calculated game of give and take, an annual "fight-unsent" trade with friends and acquaintances, a class of foes who in a candid reckoning come under the head of our social rivals.

A GERMAN PRINCESS.

Although the Emperor William of Germany has six sons and only one daughter, he has always had strong views on the training of his one girl.

"It is better that a woman should know how to make a pancake than that she should be able to discuss constitutional questions," Emperor William once said to a court lady to emphasize the need of woman's wife, the Empress of Germany, is.

The Emperor did not exaggerate for the sake of illustration. The Empress can bake and sew and tend babies, and her reputation as a housewife is maintained by six hearty young men and a charming little princess who revere her. They were all reared along the same lines, which were never relaxed.

Princess Victoria Louise has been trained to be as womanly as her brothers were taught to be manly. It is said that one of her Christmas presents many years ago was a complete outfit for washing and ironing. All the tenderness in Emperor William's nature is extended to the one little girl of all his children. His favorite photographs are those taken with the princess on his knee.

Although not overstrong as children, the German princess have been so reared as to promote health and ruggedness.

The German Empress is adored by her children, whom she brings up in a simple, almost plain, manner. She frequently presides at their table, and herself cuts the bread and butter, which is what she allows for their beverage, and anything more elaborate is regarded as a luxury.

TOY DINNERS ARE THE LATEST.

A toy dinner for grown-up people is a new and fascinating idea for entertaining formally around Christmas season. The table centerpiece is a Christmas tree from the toy shop trimmed as if for a child's party. Each guest, as he sits down, finds at his elbow a plaything in place of a favor. The toys are chosen to fit the hostess's pocketbook. If economy is an object, woolly lambs, jacks in boxes, dolls, etc., are used. If there is no particular financial limit, mechanical toys are good fun. One ingenious hostess who entertained at a Christmas dinner last year inserted a clause in her invitations asking each man or woman to come bringing the most ingenious mechanical toy that could be secured to compete in a contest party. The toys were unwrapped between courses at dinner. Afterward, in the drawing room, each owner exhibited his toy. A general vote was taken up to decide which was the cleverest. Each player voted for any except his own by dropping a signed ballot into a box held by the hostess. Prizes were awarded for those toys for which most votes were cast.

THE CHAFING DISH FEAST.

If the dining room is to be the scene of a chafing-dish feast use a bare table, with a handsome luncheon cloth or linen centerpiece for floral decorations to rest on. A dolly should be at each cover, with a plate, knife and fork, and whatever glasses are necessary. Arrange the table as inviting as possible. A little smilax or greenhouse asparagus is inexpensive and adds to the attractiveness of the supper.

Authorities differ as to the mixing of a Welsh rabbit. Each man is a law unto himself and is quite sure that he makes a better rabbit than his neighbor. The following recipe is for six persons: One pound of cheese, as rich and new as possible, cut into small bits. Place a tablespoonful of butter in the chafing dish. When hot add the cheese; as this melts stir all the time. Season with plenty of salt and cayenne pepper and a pinch of dry mustard. When it is well heated through and cooking, add about half a pint of beer. Watch carefully and stir constantly, and when thoroughly melted serve on thin slices of hot toast or square biscuits.

Scotch woodcock is another savory dish. First prepare the toast, cutting the bread into long and spread with anchovy paste, leaving it on a hot plate to soak into the toast. Cut bacon in the thinnest possible slices. Have the chafing dish hot and put in the slices of bacon. As soon as they look transparent turn them over, and as the edges curl they are done. Put a slice on each bit of toast. While this is being prepared scrambled eggs should have been made in another blazer and poured over the anchovy toast and bacon, and the Scotch woodcock is complete. Four eggs are enough for six persons. Break them into a dish and keep as light as possible. Add a couple of milk or cream and season with salt and pepper to taste. Have the chafing dish hot and place in it a tablespoonful of butter. Four in the eggs and stir constantly.

HIRING A MAID.

The wife of one of Philadelphia's young literary men who had produced a couple of novels went to an employment agency the other day to engage a colored servant girl. There was one that seemed to suit, having answered all questions satisfactorily, but before engaging herself she had a few questions of her own to ask. "Is your husband a student doctor?" she demanded. "Cause if he is you'll have to scuse me. Ah doan live with no doctah. Dem student doctors cut cullud folks up." No, my husband isn't a doctor; he is a writer," replied the wife of the young literary man, rather proudly. The colored girl's eyes opened to the fullest extent. "Is dat so?" she exclaimed in admiration. "Yo doan say so. Ah's sholy glad fo' heah dat. Mebbe Ah go to live wid you he kin put me onto the numbahs befo' de drawin's." "Numbahs? Drawings?" said the young married woman, completely mystified. "I don't know what you mean. My husband is a literary man." It was then the colored girl's turn to be puzzled. "Didn't you say you was a writer?" she asked. "Yes, that was right." "Well, de man dat writes polly sho'ly knows what

RATHER APPROPRIATE.

A bashful young minister was once asked to preach before the students of Wellesley College. His embarrassment when he entered the dining room of College Hall for breakfast Sunday morning and found himself the only man among three hundred and fifty girls was overwhelming. He was asked to say grace, and hastily delivered himself to the following: "O Lord, bless this food to our use, and may this meat make us all strong men!"—Good Housekeeping.

"What are you doing here?" demanded the irate farmer of the boy he had surprised in his shotgun grove.

"Nutting," sir," replied the frank little chap as he strove to hide the nut bag behind his back—Judge.

LOVE AND JANUS.

One day Love came to the Temple of Janus.

There saw he the great bronze image of the god, with his two faces, one looking forward and one backward.

"I am like thee," said Love.

"How may that be?" said Janus.

"Because," said Love, "I am never looking backward to the joys of Memory, or forward to the joys of Anticipation"—Life.

IN MEXICO CHRISTMAS WEDDING THE VOICE

AN EVENING IN MEXICO.

At Christmas and New Year's it is customary in Mexico to use for an entertainment a deep earthen jar with a mouth about four inches wide, called cantaro in Spanish, and the entertainment is called phanta. The jar is covered or decorated with different colors of tissue paper, put on in fancy style, also paper flowers, so that it is completely hidden. Some people fix the jar to look like a doll, dancing girl or a clown, which can be done with crepe paper. The inside is filled with bonbons and nuts, and, if the hostess can afford it, a fun or any pretty trinket is also put therein as a prize for the winner. The jar thus prepared is hung in the middle of the room about eight feet from the floor. A very strong cord should be used for this, as the jar is heavy after it is filled, and it has hard work before it is broken. When the company arrives the hostess selects a young couple to form a committee who in their turn may choose among the guests those who shall lead themselves to be blindfolded, one at a time. The blind one is taken around the room so that he or she may lose their bearings, and then brought to within a few feet of the jar. If given a strong cue and told to strike. If the jar is not broken at the first stroke, someone else must go, and whoever happens to be the fortunate one to break it is awarded the prize, while the rest of the company rush for the success. To prolong the fun, another cord can be attached to the cord of the jar near the mouth, and pulled on one side every time that the blindfold player strikes. Of course it is then much harder to break it. We have enjoyed several evenings in this way very much.

A CHRISTMAS WEDDING.

A church wedding is to take place on Christmas, when the church and home decorations are to be holly, mistletoe, palms and evergreens; the bridesmaids' gifts are little holly wreath pins for the hair, while the ushers' scarves are tiny green enamel true love knots. In a corner of the hall there will be an ornate turned marriage bed of holly, filled with tiny green silk stockings containing little boxes of wedding cake, tied at the top with red ribbon, and given to each guest upon leaving, by a little maid gowned in green. The bridegroom is of white satin, covered with tucked chiffon, trimmed with flounces of rare old family lace, a three-yard train, bodice high necked, with elbow sleeves, and lace yoke; her tulle veil held by a spray of mistletoe. The bride will carry a muff of white satin ribbon, bows and ends, with bunch of mistletoe, two long ends fringed, and knotted four inches from the bottom, holding little bunches of mistletoe. The bridesmaids' dresses are of light green tulle chiffon over white satin, with fluffy flounces and liberty sashes; big chiffon hats and muffs trimmed with holly; chiffon boas with holly berries festooning the ruffles. There will be four bridesmaids. The matron of honor will wear a white lace pattern gown over a dotted lace and liberty satin foundation, very effective; lace hat, boa and muff finished with bunches of mistletoe. The bride's going-away gown is of leaf green tulle, heavily attached, tailor finish; an ermine abito with lace stock and belt; milk fur, milk hat with bonnet roses and green velvet leaves. More than 1,000 guests are expected, and more than 1,000 are not told for fear of not being invited.

CULTIVATE THE VOICE.

How many girls ever give thought to the pitch and timbre of their voices?

Straight figures, good complexions, an easy supple carriage, white teeth, and well-kept hair and nails are all deserved by striving for—yet not an agreeable voice! A girl can do much to counteract what may seem a naturally bad voice. Nine times out of ten it is bad because of careless habits formed through ignorance. The pitch of the voice is most important, and if this is high the work of lowering it should be at once attempted. Stop frequently in the course of your daily talk with your family or intimate friends, and catch the echo of your voice—it will be easy to go on then two or three tones lower. Soon the right pitch will become habitual—a great point gained. A pleasant voice may be cultivated, too, like a pleasant expression, if sufficient care and watchfulness are had. If the voice tones are nasal there is probably some upper throat or nostril obstruction—often very simple and easily removed by a physician. If voice culture lessons can be taken this should be done, but without any expert teaching, a young person's voice is amenable to modification and improvement through simple care on the part of its owner.

JAPAN'S PIERPONT MORGAN.

Baron Shibuzawa devoted much time, attention and money to extending the railway system so that it would furnish an artery from the capital to every important city in the main island, or Hondu. The development was rapid in both the government and private systems. In 1890 the government lines were 551 miles in length, and private lines 896 miles, a total of 1,447 miles. In 1900 the government lines had grown to 1,010 miles, and private lines to 2,995 miles, a total of 3,995 miles.

In 1890 the income of the government railway lines was 4,218,804 yen, the profits being 2,152,551 yen; while the private lines had an income of 4,360,478 yen, with profits of 2,732,891 yen. In 1900 the government lines had an income of 15,360,478 yen, with profits of 15,662,243 yen. Baron Shibuzawa lines had an income of 31,059,696 yen, with profits of 15,662,243 yen. Baron Shibuzawa is now president of four major systems.

These are only a few of his great projects that have made or are the history of modern Japan. These enterprises extend over the thirty-five years of his official designation as the ruler of the country, emperor, and stretch on into the future, when they will serve as foundations of Japan's commercial empire in Formosa, China and Korea. For by his initiative and tireless persistence is due the construction of the Seoul-Chenupui and the Seoul-Fusan railways in Korea, and the organization of banking and industrial associations in Formosa, Korea and China.

Perhaps no other organizer has ever been engaged in so many and various to represent a farm. The floor had been carefully sanded, the carpet being removed. Elaborate furniture had been replaced by chairs of rustic build, and one corner of the room was filled by a plain wooden bench, on which stood half a dozen dazling milk pails. Chickens and ducks of top shop variety strutted and waddled, or rather seemed to do so, here and there over the sand.

Each guest on entering received a little program decorated with water colors. The decorations were miniature scenes, sketched in country places, such as a farmer at the plow, a haystack with a moon behind it, a milkmaid carrying pails.

A bright woman who has a pretty country home in New York state entertained a number of friends recently at a "farm party." The idea could be copied by any hostesses similarly situated. In fact, by any woman in search of a bright idea for home festivities.

While travelling in Greece a certain clergyman lately found himself compelled to spend the night at a monastery on Mount Athos. The welcome was warm, but the food was execrable. In particular the soup, which the guest could hardly force himself to swallow.

Being a classical scholar, his knowledge of ancient Greek helped him to some understanding of the monks, who spoke the widely different modern tongue, and he was astonished to hear that the unpalatable soup was English dish.

"English!" cried one of the monks, adding an English sailor had been there not long before and recognized it.

"What did he call it?" asked the clergyman.

"The monk had to think a moment before he could recollect the strange English name of that soup. Ah, he had it. It was simply muck!"

The largest public testimonial ever given to an author was presented to Stenkliewicz, a Polish author, last year. It consisted of 1,000 copies and $50,000.

While travelling in Greece a certain clergyman lately found himself compelled to stay the night at a monastery on Mount Athos. Canvas House Gown, With Guipure Trimming

"Cakes like mother used to make") are not more abundant in New England, for tried and trusted recipes have been passed down from one generation to another, like treasured heirlooms. In a book, with leaves yellowed with time, the directions for making such delicious cakes are given. The delicate handwringing in fashion, two generations ago. One recipe tells how luscious cake is made, and points out that it is very choice. It calls for cream, butter and raisins—half a pound of flour, butter and raisins—half a pound of blanched almonds, a quarter of a pound of citron and nine eggs. It is flavored with lemon and orange sugar. The proportions are that the white must be beaten in with the butter and sugar.

Connecticut Cakes.

Four eggs are required for these, five eggs for tall cakes. One egg, a scant one of a pound, a small tin of soda, a half tin of butter, a teaspoonful of cream of tartar and a half tin of soda have been dissolved, a half tin of milk and sufficient flour not to make the mixture too stiff. It should be baked until it is about a half inch thick, cut into long strips and twisted in figure eight portions or like into rings, and fried in boiling dripping. The cakes are fried separately, and when the crust is crisp can be removed more easily from the pot.

Loaf Cake.

Two cups of bread dough, two cups of loaf sugar, two eggs, a half pint of stoned raisins, a half pint of milk, and a little yeast are required for this cake. The butter and milk should be creamed, then added to the dough. After these have been thoroughly stirred together the eggs are incorporated, the whites and yolks having been beaten separately. The longer the cake mixture is beaten the more successful will the results be.

Quick Loaf Cake.

This calls for one cup of sugar, one of butter, four level cups of flour, and three eggs, a generous half teaspoonful of soda, two-thirds of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, raisins, spice and a little brandy.

Stripes.

This patriotic cake is made with three pounds of sugar, four of flour, one of butter, one pound six ounces butter, a pint of baker's yeast, one and a half pints of milk, one pound of citron, two pounds of raisins. The butter and milk are creamed, and two cups, two wine glasses of Jamaica rum, the same quantity of Madeira and six eggs, cake one-third of the sugar and work it in and add an ounce of honey, the grated rind of one lemon, a teaspoonful of saffron when the mixture is worked the second time.

Pineapple Cake.

The writer of the recipe for this asserts that it is delicious, a fact which all who have had it tested will readily admit. It calls for one cup of good rich cake in fatness of this large, ripe pineapple, which has been breaded, should then be grated into a bowl
